Coding expertise:

Many of my published/accepted research papers depended in my coding skills in various computer languages, such as C, C++, Maple, Mathematica, Python, and more. I find it easy to learn new languages as required.

Language:

I am fluent in English and Swedish, and I know German (fluent in reading).

Work in progress:

I am leading four projects with my colleagues at the Technion Game Theory group, with Reshef Meir, Gal Cohensius, Ron Lavi and Y. Babishenko. These projects concern mechanism design, extensive form games, algorithms and auctions. I have ongoing projects at various stages with A. S. Fraenkel, D. Iannucci, M. Mhalla, C. P. dos Santos, R. J. Nowakowski, A. N. Siegel, A. Martinsson, J. Wästlund, S. Rubinstein-Salzedo, and others.

Conference and workshop organizer:

I organized a workshop in Combinatorial Game Theory (Games at Carmel), 14-17 May 2018, Technion, Haifa, Israel. I am a member of the scientific committee for Combinatorial Game Theory Colloquium I 2015, II 2017, and III 2019, hosted by Dr. C. P. dos Santos, University of Lisbon Portugal. I was co-organizer for Games at Dal workshops in Combinatorial Game Theory, 2015 and 2016, with Dr. R. J. Nowakowski, Dalhousie University, Halifax, Canada.
